2 The Gathering '94

This information leaflet is the Official Information Leaflet to The Gathering 1994. Inside you should find everything you need to know. The information inside has been compiled from ideas and suggestions from The Gathering 1994 conference at The Crusaders BBS, and experiences from the two previous Gatherings. You do not need this or any other kind of invitation to attend The Gathering. Anyone with a genuine interest in computers are welcome!

Entrance fees

Europeans: NOK 200.-
Non-Europeans and girls: FREE!

Rykkinnhallen

The Gathering 1994 will not be held at Skedsmohallen. Instead we have chosen Rykkinnhallen which is a brand new sports hall located just a few kilometers south west of Oslo, Norway's capitol. One of the reasons this hall was chosen is that it is made up of two halls. If you like the real party feeling, grab a table in the large hall. If you like things quiet, grab a table in the smaller hall. The total available space around the complex is around 4500m<sup>2</sup>.

Reservations

Since we expect the available space to be limited, you will unfortunately not be able to reserve space for you or your group at The Gathering 1994. Instead we will give away seats on a first-come-first-served basis.

GENERAL INFO

Rooms for rent

Rykkinnhallen has four separate rooms with two beds and shower for those of you who really need a good nights sleep. The rooms are primarily intended for bus drivers and so on, and the price per room is 200 NOK per 24hrs. If you are interested in renting a room, you will have to contact Dr. Outtasight immediately and order it. We also expect you to pay for the room in advance.

Sleeping Area

The sleeping area is made up of a cluster of large lockers, each with toilets and showers. The lockers are of course located in the same building as the main hall, but any noise from the main hall should not disturb you. The space is limited and we will be using additional rooms for sleeping if necessary.

Electricity

Anyone who visited The Gathering 1993 knows that the electrical system of Skedsmohallen did not manage all those devices. This is also one of the reasons we have chosen another hall this year. Since 420 Amperes was inadequate at The Gathering 1993, we now have a total of 1400A.

No kitchen appliances, please!

For obvious reasons you will not be allowed to plug any electrical kitchen appliances you might bring, to the ordinary electrical system.

A fridge pull enough power to feed around 5 computers, and a microwave pulls more than 10. Also, a fridge and a microwave both generate nasty electrical surges on the net which might blow your computer hardware. A small number of people will however be allowed to use their fridges, microwaves and ovens on a special circuit set aside for this - and only this - again on a first-come-first-served basis.

Audio/Visual Equipment

The audio and visual equipment is one of the most important parts of an arrangement like this. Delivering a perfect picture to over 2000 persons is very difficult, and multiple video projectors and an internal TV transmitter will ensure that the availability is more than adequate. The sound system will be made up of the existing 6000 Watts system already installed in the hall, plus a set of subwoofers. The existing system is mounted in the ceiling, and will therefore give you excellent sound no matter where you are sitting.

Internal TV and Information System

The Internal TV and Information System will be used for broadcasting messages and information to you. If you bring your portable TV set or a video machine with a receiver, you will be able to receive this information together with live coverage and much more. The TV transmitter is based on a professional model with a special aerial that gives complete coverage anywhere in the hall, without disturbing anyone outside it.

Video Room

One of the most popular leisure activities at The Gathering is of course the video watching. We will run the same system as last year, with a 6m<sup>2</sup> screen and a six speaker Dolby™ surround sound system. The video room has no windows, so movies will be shown around the clock. You will not be allowed inside once a movie has started.

Arcades

The Gathering 1993 featured some of the most excellent arcades, like the fabulous AirHockey. The Gathering 1994 will of course also feature this together with the usual amount of pinball machines and video games.

Official Party BBS

Most people feel that no party is complete without a party BBS system. At The Gathering 1994 a team from SSD will be running the official party BBS on an Amiga A4000. The system will feature eight nodes, where three are reserved for SSD and the rest will be open to the public. One node will most likely be available through a dial-up modem. Unfortunately we were not able to include the number for this node in this information leaflet before it was printed. The number should be available at the Crusaders BBS or at The Gathering 1994 FTP site.

Party Network

In addition to the party BBS, we will also install a party network. The network is made up of one large Novell™ NetWare 3.11 server. If you bring your NetWare 3.11 compatible server system, we will hook it up to the party network. If you have a computer with an Ethernet compatible adapter with either coax or twisted pair connector, you should be able to connect to the network easily.

Both the party BBS and the party network will contain party releases as soon as they become available.

Cafeteria

After getting some complaints about the lack of variations in the food available at The Gathering 1993, we decided to hire a professional catering firm. They will have around the clock service in the cafeteria. Instead of having just pizza five days in a row, they will offer you one different main course every day in addition to pizza, fries, hotdogs, burgers, softdrinks and other snacks. All this at a reasonable price.

Registration

To be allowed to enter The Gathering 1994, you must first fill out a short registration form when arriving. This form will then be punched immediately into our database network by our crew. After paying the entrance fee, you will be given a badge which is your proof of payment. If you lose this badge, you will have to pay the entrance fee again. If the badge is destroyed, you will be given a new one, only if the badge number is clearly visible. The database network will be available to the attendants through a couple of terminals where you can search for names and groups.

HOW TO GET TO THE GATHERING 1994

Step by step

Since most people know how to get to Oslo, the capital of Norway, we start from there. In Oslo, european highway E6 comes from Sweden and links up with european highway E18 coming from the south of Norway.

If you come from the E6 (f.ex via Sweden) go straight through Oslo on E18 until you see the signs for "Hønefoss/Sandvika" (Point A on the map) about 15km from Oslo. You will notice the very famous "Kalvøya" island to your left.

If you come from the E18 from south of Norway, you will see the signs for "Hønefoss/Sandvika" (point A on the map) around 15km from Oslo, 25km from Drammen.

Once off the E18, continue through a tunnel (point B on the map) and under two bridges (point C on the map). Then go straight past a Statoil gas station (point D on the map) up a climb and through a tunnel (point E on the map). Then exit the main road at the sign for "Rykkinn" (point F on the map). If you are coming from Hønefoss (norwegians only) you should exit the main road here. Go straight through the first roundabout, through another roundabout and through yet another roundabout (point G on the map). Then under another bridge and over a small stream (point H on the map). Then past a church and then straight through yet another roundabout. Exit this road when you see the signs for The Gathering. Follow this road until you reach Rykkinnhallen.

Note that the distance between the objects on the map does not represent the actual distance!

AMIGA 4000

Amiga 4000 er Commodores toppmodell i Amiga-serien. Kraftig prosessor og store ekspansjonsmuligheter gjør den til det mest fornuftige alternativet for den som vil ha en maskin som kan vokse sammen med kravene. Den kommer i to modellvarianter, med henholdsvis 68030- eller 68040-prosessor. Begge har selvfølgelig AGA-grafikk, stereolyd, harddisk og Workbench 3.0. Entries which does not comply with the rules for this category will be disqualified - without exceptions!

Best Amiga Intro

An intro is defined as a stand-alone executable program compiled or assembled by the use of anything from a hi-level compiler to pure machine code, all contained in a single file. The size of the executable file before execution must not exceed 40 kB. An intro must have an exit routine that returns to the operating system.

The intro can and should utilize the AGA chipset of the A1200/4000. AGA intros will of course not work on an A3000, and we do not expect them to.

Entries not working on the following models and which does not comply with the rules for this category will be disqualified - without exceptions!

Amiga A1200, Amiga A3000, Amiga A4000/030 and Amiga A4000/040

Best Module

A module is defined as a file consisting of musical data. Modules of any format can compete, as long as a player is supplied with the module. The module must use no more than four channels.

Entries which does not comply with the rules for this category will be disqualified - without exceptions!

Best Picture

A picture is defined by a file consisting of one frame of graphical data. Pictures from any platform can be entered, but a picture viewer must also be supplied in case of very special graphical formats.

The maximum graphical resolution is 1024 horizontal and 768 vertical pixels, and the maximum number of bits per pixel (bitplanes) is 24.

Entries which does not comply with the rules for this category will be disqualified - without exceptions!

Best Animation

An animation is defined by a series of graphical frames viewed at a certain frame rate. Animations from any platform can be entered, and an animation viewer must be supplied.

The maximum graphical resolution is 1024 horizontal and 768 vertical pixels, and the maximum number of bits per pixel (bitplanes) is 24.

Animations from any other platforms than Amiga and PC, will have to supply a machine to view them on. This machine must supply a composite video or a format suitable for video conversion.

Entries which does not comply with the rules for this category will be disqualified - without exceptions!

Viewing of the Competition Entries

As many of the competitions will have a lot of entries and there is no time to play all the modules and show all the pictures, the primary task of the jury will be to select a percentage of the entries in each competition to view/play for the finals. These finalists will be shown to the public. If the voting system fails, the jury's votes counts as the final result. The jury will therefor view all entries in all the competitions.

The jury will consist of a technical jury and 20 randomly selected people from the party attendants.

The arrangers will have absolutely nothing to do with the selection except to play the entries for the jury in a closed room.

As far as it is possible, the name of the author of the product will not be shown to the jury. This is to ensure that each product will be judged by its appearance, not by the name of the guy that made it.

The top three entries will be shown again when the winners are announced.

Voting

At The Gathering 1994 we will try a completely new system based on the computerized system used at The Party. However, our system will differ somewhat in the sence that votes will be counted automatically. When paying at the entrance you will be given either an Amiga or PC formatted double density disk containing a voting program. The program is self-explaining and should be very easy to use. If you do not have a computer, you can either borrow one or vote on paper. Once you have voted, the disk has to be returned to the arrangers for counting of the votes.

All this ensures that as many people as possible has a chance to vote. If the first system fails, the votes of the jury will count as the final result.

Product availability

It is common to distribute the competition entries at the end of the party. At The Gathering 1994 we will distribute all entries mainly via selected swappers which you can copy the disks from, and via the Official Party BBS, The Crusaders BBS and The Gathering 1994 Internet FTP site.

A CD-ROM compatible with PC, Amiga, CD32 and CDTV containing all the productions released at The Gathering 1994, will be made available if the demand for this is high enough. The price will be around NOK 150,-

Dealers Welcome

At The Gathering 1993, many hardware and software dealers presented their products to the ideal market group - the users. At The Gathering 1994 we will try to get even more dealers so that you will have a wider range of products available. Everything from blank disk to the hottest games.

If your company find The Gathering an interesting market place, please feel free to contact the arrangers immediately. You will have the opportunity to present your products to thousands of potential customers, all with a common interest in computers. Presenting your products will cost you absolutely nothing what so ever.

Safe Hex takes care of the viruses

Safe Hex International is a well reputed institution of anti-viral products, and will be present with a team of virus experts. Through a special deal between Safe Hex International and The Gathering 1994, we will offer you copies of the latest anti-viral products for absolutely free.
